The Q534 is a wall-mounted audio door telephone designed for seamless integration with Entryphone's Q series 2-wire system.

Featuring a conventional handset design, this audio-only model provides clear communication and is equipped with conventional switches for on/off, two door releases, and a ring-mute function. Users can easily customise settings for ringer volume and select from twelve different ring tones, ensuring a tailored user experience.

With its straightforward two-wire bus cabling system, the Q534 offers effortless installation, making it an ideal choice for both new installations and upgrades to existing systems.
